Jodi Skulsky and Adam Green,
August 25, 2007, Vancouver

Tying the knot at the end of August was the icing on the cake for Jodi Skulsky and Adam Green's perfect summer. "We wanted the theme of our day to be classic, romantic and pink!" Jodi explains. The duo were married at Vancouver's Good Shepherd Catholic Church and continued their fete at the luxurious Fairmont Hotel Vancouver, where guests were given a taste of their royal theme—everything from the bridesmaids' dresses to the bouquets had a touch of pink. "Even the sign on the back of our limo was decorated in pink," Jodi says. Known for their sweet teeth, Jodi and Adam decided to serve delicious sweets from their favourite bakery at the reception. "We knew the cookies were a hit when our guests began eating them even before finishing dinner," Jodi laughs. The dessert table was personalized with family photographs, so guests could take a trip down memory lane while waiting for a slice of cake. And, of course, keeping true to Jodi and Adam's pink theme, the wedding cake and centrepieces were all topped with roses in hues of—you guessed it—pink! 🍷
